CODE OF ETHICS
of Public Joint Stock Company PhosAgro
(revised version)

Moscow

Dear colleagues!

PhosAgro is a Russian vertically integrated company and one of the world's leading producers of phosphate-based fertilisers. Its core line of business is the production of phosphate-based fertilisers, high-grade phosphate rock, as well as feed phosphates, nitrogen fertilisers and ammonia.

Our company enjoys the reputation of a reliable business partner largely due to the carefully built development strategy, impressive production facilities and social responsibility towards the employees and society.

We are well aware that honesty, integrity and transparency are the touchstones of successful business in the contemporary market environment. We, therefore, deem it necessary to adhere to the best corporate governance practices where the highest standards of doing business are the key factor.

We seek to meet the world's highest environment, health, safety and human rights standards; we believe this is instrumental for our successful work with all stakeholders, by which we mean not just our employees and people living in the cities of our presence, but also our clients, investors and shareholders.

The Company's success and leadership are, undoubtedly, the achievement of its employees, who contribute to strengthening its business reputation and are committed to high performance standards, professional ethics and integrity.

We are proud of our HR policy and strive to make it even better. The Company's corporate culture focused on business development makes it one of the top companies opening up wide career opportunities for its employees.

The Company's social policy aims to improve its image as an employer and ensures comfortable and safe working conditions. In our business, we always strive to meet the highest standards of corporate governance, stipulated by this Code of Ethics.

This Code provides for the key requirements to employees, rules and standards of collective and individual behaviour. The Code provisions cover any and all relations of team members with regard to industry and business issues, as well as relations with business partners and other counterparties. Adherence to such rules shall contribute to the establishment of common values, so that all employees could be satisfied with their work and communication with colleagues, feel comfortable in the team and grow professionally and personally.

The principles and standards set by this Code of Ethics enable the Company to avoid unjustified risks, maintain long-term economic growth, strengthen its position in the Russian and foreign markets, as well as enhance the Company's value.

I am sure that this Code will be a true guide for our employees in all aspects of their business and industrial relations, and compliance with the Code will become a good tradition.
